*Regularly enrolled students at ABA approved and California Accredited law schools who successfully complete their first year of law study and are advanced to their second year are exempt from the First-Year Law Students' Examination (FYLSX) requirement. Students, however, may elect to take the examination on their own and some may take it to fulfil their schools' requirements.

<sup>1</sup> These statistics were compiled using data available as of September 8, 2021. The following law schools were accredited by the Committee of Bar Examiners and are now reported in the accredited category starting with the statistics for this exam: Concord Law School; St. Francis Law School; Northwestern California School of Law. Each of these law schools enrolls some students who are completing the law school's unaccredited JD program, while others are enrolled in the law school's accredited JD program.

<sup>2</sup> Applicants who attended all sessions of the examination and have a complete set of scores, which may include zeros.
